We're trusted by the world's top brands

At Hank, we pride ourselves on providing internationally renowned companies with HDMI® solutions. Our selection includes over 100 products – including matrixes, cables and connectors – that undergo a series of strict evaluations at our testing lab. These inspections ensure compatibility with 12 brands of Blu-ray disc players and HDTVs. For this reason, we are the preferred supplier to big names such as Sony, Samsung, Sharp, Panasonic and TCL.

We have ample R&D capabilities

Our 20 English-speaking R&D engineers have an average of 10 years of experience in the A/V industry. They utilize their expertise to create up to 10 new models every month. Their newest releases include HDMI matrixes that boast all the latest features. We maintain our competitive advantage by closely collaborating with industry leaders. And if you have a design in mind, you can rest assured that we'll customize a sample according to your specifications within 30 days.

Our products are guaranteed for 2 years

All of our products come with UL, CE and FCC approvals for hassle-free distribution. And for your peace of mind, we offer two-year warranties. For more details, contact us today.
