Every year, there are numerous fires around the world, such as gas leaks, short circuits, wildfires, mobile phones, power supplies and batteries exploding spontaneously. For example, China, on average, there are 100,000 fires every year, causing 3,000 to 4,000 casualties and up to 20 billion yuan in annual losses. It's a huge loss .

In order to reduce the property losses of individuals, enterprises and the country from fire. We research and development of fireproof materials and the analysis of scene applications are adopted. Have developed and launched fireproof, explosion-proof and waterproof storage products such as fireproof file bags, home storage bags, power-bank storage bags, mobile phone signal shielding bags and battery safe bags. They can be used for daily storage, easily carried and escaped in case of fire and can be used as a temporary fire barrier. High temperature resistance of 800-1000 °C, like a kind of flame retardant, which can delay the spread of fire, and protect important inside items in a certain period of time.

It is suitable for families, enterprises, schools, training institutions, government agencies, banks and Insurance organizations etc., involving consumer, commercial and industrial areas.
