Holding 18 years of experience

Southern Electronics Tech Ltd., established in 2006, is a distributor and agent of all electronic components, as well as a professional PCB manufacturer. We have passed certifications such as ISO 9001:2015 and AAA integrity business etc.

Various applications

In terms of electronic components, we are committed to the distribution and integration services of global well-known brand electronic components, used in fields such as communication, computers, consumer electronics, automotive electronics, industrial control and healthcare.

Providing one-stop solutions

In order to reduce costs, we also provide a comprehensive one-stop electronic component supply chain solution. After more than ten years of efforts, the company has established good cooperative relationships with global electronic component manufacturers and well-known brand agents, with stable supply channels, 100% quality assurance, competitive prices, fast delivery, and comprehensive after-sales service.

One-stop PCB services

In 2014, we established a subsidiary Shenzhen Yama Technology Co., Ltd. Our main products include PCBs. We provide one-stop PCB services, including PCB manufacturing, PCB assembly, PCBA components sourcing, and PCBA function testing. We have an experienced procurement, production team, and international trade sales.

Customers in over 20 countries

Our business covers over 20 countries worldwide. Frequently establish quality friendly business relationships and stable contacts with countries such as Europe, the United States, and Asia, and receive unanimous praise from customers.
